Goodbye and Best Wishes

At the end of the year we will have three teachers moving on from the academy to pursue new challenges.

Miss Carroll - Miss Carroll has been with the academy since 2015 when she joined us as an NQT. After completing two very successful years in year 2 she moved into year 4 and showed herself to be a capable and multi-faceted member of staff leading the music provision from strength to strength. Truly embracing our academy values, she has decided to move back into full time education and pursue a master's in educational policy at Kings College London. We wish her the very best and applaud her move as a great role model for the children in exploring how far she can take her ambitions! We know she will be keeping in touch and will be sorely missed as part of the team. Miss Canavan has eagerly picked up the mantle of music coordinator and with the support of Miss Carroll will be ready to keep this provision at the highest standard possible in September.

Ms Sharma - after joining the academy this year to fill a maternity space Ms Sharma will be moving onto a new challenge reflective of her outstanding work at Priory, although she will continue to support the academy at least one day per week ensuring this standard is maintained. Ark Priory has been recognised for the excellent quality of the English provision drawing plaudits from famous names such as Michael Rosen and Pie Corbitt amongst others. The academy is one of the highest achieving in the network for reading and writing. Following these successes Ms Sharma will be promoted, taking over a large portion of the leadership of English policy and delivery for the whole of the London region. This will also involve her being based closer to her home in South East London. Miss Cox will be stepping up from deputy English lead to the full position under the close tutelage of Ms Sharma and we are sure will flourish in the role.

Miss Vince - Miss Vince has been with the academy since 2014 when she joined us as an NQT, throughout that period she has shown herself to be an outstanding teacher which lead to her taking up a role as a regional lead teacher supporting other schools with the quality of their mathematics provision. Miss Vince will remain attached to the academy at least one day per week to support the mathematics at Priory but will be promoted, taking a greater network development load which is reflective of her successes as a coach and leader. This will also allow her to be based closer to home reducing her current 1hr+ commute. She will be sorely missed at Ark Priory but as someone who has totally embraced our values and ethos we know she will forever be a true Priory person.

Although the academy is sad to see these young professionals fledge onto new posts, it is testament to the quality of the provision and development at Priory that staff here are moving onto positions where they can begin to make meaningful change to children's outcomes not just in the locality of Priory but across London and (eventually) beyond. As staff develop, grow and eventually move on it is testament to the strength of the culture and values held by the children, parents and staff that the school will always be truly exceptional.
